MAY 2016

1 Metallica - Fade To Black (live)

This one is my most fav live version of this classic song. I love it so.

2 Katy Perry - Last Friday Night (tgif)

Pure. Pop. Perfection. I've lived a lot of the stuff in this song FYI.

3 Neil Young & Crazy Horse - Cortez The Killer (live)

The best live version of this there ever will be.

4 Oasis - Talk Tonight

Sean Quilkey made me a mix many moons ago. I heard this and cried.

5 Stevie Ray Vaughan & Double Trouble - House Is Rockin

I double dare you not to tap yer feet to this one

6/ Michael Jackson - Don't Stop Till You Get Enough

All of the funk

7/ Faith No More - Falling To Pieces (live)

I have proof this was random. And also why would I lie? It's awesome. And finally, I here is no songs on my phone that I'd be embarrassed to put on a mixtape.

8/ Public Enemy - Security Of The First World

Old. School. You may recall the beat being the primary sample track in Justify My Love by her Madgesty

9/ The Rolling Stones - Wild Horses (live)

Neigh

10/ ZZ Top - Jesus Just Left Chicago (live)

This one time I as flying out of Chicago and had the ol 160gb iPod Classic on shuffle and this came on as we took off. Play this motherfucker loud.

11/ Slash - Starlight

Perfect song. The intro. The drums. The solo. The lyrics. Myles is a great singer,
